
Year 2007 in Review

The Lord revealed a way to expand our effectiveness through the power of prayer.

- He repeatedly reminds us that we are mere tools in His mighty hand. Victory in the war for life requires uplifting our clients in prayer.
- On a visit with one of our local pastors, I asked for the name of a prayer liaison. The pastor quickly responded with a much better solution. He told us to call the church with urgent requests, and he would give instruction for pastors and staff to pray immediately.
- These incredible prayer warriors are faithful to stop at a moment's notice and lift up the wounded in prayer. Many hearts are changed before they leave the Center but others walk away still undecided or determined to abort. Often it is months later when they call or return with joy to tell us that no matter how hard they tried, they could not abort their baby.

The Lord revealed a way to expand our ministry through youth groups at local churches.

- Late on a Wednesday afternoon in 2006, an associate pastor from a local church called. His message for the high school teens that evening was from Exodus 20, "Thou shall not kill". His appeal expanded our ministry focus.
- The tour and information about sexual pressures, sexual integrity, abortion and STDs were well received with great attention. Then, I pushed "play" on the ultrasound DVD. Within a few minutes they began to exclaim to one another, "Look, there's a foot!", "Do you see the hand?", "Is that the heart beating?", etc. At the end, I opened the session for questions. One young man asked, "Ms. Killough, What do you want us to do?" Without engaging the brain I responded, "Put me out of business. Now you are equipped with information to help—in preventing a mistake and in pointing to help at our Center." They left that evening with new convictions concerning the unborn.
- Following that, I could not get these young men and their comments out of my thoughts. As a result, a plan began to unfold. With all the behind-the-scene volunteer support hours needed along with a real desire to educate our teens to be laborers for the cause, God was showing me how to incorporate the two.
- Local youth pastors were contacted, and a pilot program was launched. The youth came, not only eager to serve with humble hearts, but they performed every task with excellence and joy. The youth, in turn, learn more about the "for life" ministry and receive literature and tools to further the cause.
- Students do our in-depth cleaning, mark Bibles, put together parenting gift bags, sort and hang maternity clothes, make copies, put together Medicaid packets, take inventory of baby items and literature, and whatever else may be needed at that time.
- When a group comes for work day, we receive 60 to 80 man hours. This equates to one volunteer working a four hour shift each week for 15 to 20 weeks. In 2007, we reaped the benefit of 480 hours. This is equivalent to two regular volunteers for an entire year!
- This is a win-win opportunity. As well as the center receiving valuable volunteer hours for much needed tasks, we are also able to promote abstinence and abortion prevention at the same time. Having teens involved at the center first-hand further solidifies their convictions concerning God's view of life and the unborn. It impacts their lives in countless ways that will carry them into adulthood.
